HEALTHY HAIR HINTS:

The idea that baldness is a sign of intellectuality is fast being exploded.

The hair is not pushed out of the head by the great knowledge inside.

In fact many learned men use Kaminia Oil to prevent their hair from coming out.

They are succeeding with it, too;

So are many in all stages of intellectuality.

Available everywhere but it must be Kaminia Oil.

REPORTED HOUSEBREAKING AND THEFT

A Hindu named Raguanth Somnath Sapre lodging on the ground floor of Motilal Buildings on Khetwadi Main Road, reports that he and his people went to bed at about 11 p.m. on the 15th instant after shutting all the doors and windows. Waking up at 5 o'clock the next morning he found that two boxes which he had kept under his bed during the night were not in their place. Searching for them he found one box lying in the kitchen. Three bars of the kitchen window had been removed. The other box was later found deposited in the gutter near the house. Cut cash and ornaments of the value of Rs. 1,116 had been carried away.

COLLAPSE OF A STAIRCASE.

The collapse yesterday at about 12-30 p.m. of the staircase of a small house close by the Kuppawala's Fire Temple in Dhunji Street impeding the exit of the inhabitants of the two upper floors occasioned some excitement. On the receipt of information the Fire Brigade promptly repaired to the scene and saved one man by bringing him through the skylight in the roof on to the top and from there to the road with the aid of the fire escape.
Four others escaped by the rear staircase of the house. The house whose ground floor has been used as a godown for storing glasses and the two upper floors for residence, belongs to a Borah named Tyebali Ibrahimji.

HINDU MENDICANT FOUND DEAD ON QUEEN'S ROAD.

An enquiry was opened yesterday by Dr. W. Nunan, Acting Coroner, touching the death of a Hindu mendicant named Chhagan Dana.
Dr. C. M. Fraser, a dental surgeon deposed that on Sunday at 2-30 a.m. he was going along Queen's Road in a taxi-car when close to the old burial ground the chauffer cried out "one man khalas" i.e. finished, and pointed to something. Directed by the witness the driver stopped and turned round. Witness and his friends descended from the car and saw the deceased lying on the road facing the burial ground. He was alive. Witness noticed a wound above the right eye which bled. The deceased's knee and elbow had sustained wounds. Witness sent the taxi driver in the car for the police. The police arrived and removed the deceased to the hospital.
This witness was corroborated by Mr. Jean Smith.
Further enquiry was adjourned.

DEATH OF A CO-WIFE.

EVIDENCE AT CORONER'S INQUEST.

Dr. W. Nunan, Acting Coroner, held an inquest yesterday touching the death of a Hindu woman, Mithabai, who lived with her husband, a hawker in cloth, named Ranchhor Falabhji, on the fifth floor of a house in Breach Street, Mandvi. The deceased was taken to the G. T. Hospital, injured on the 6th instant, where she died on Monday.
In his evidence the deceased's husband said that the deceased asked her mother Hirabai about noon on the day in question to take her to her native place. For some time the mother and daughter were arguing in his room. When the discussion was over the daughter emerged from the room and walked towards the end of the verandah. Wondering what she might be going to do, her husband followed her when he was struck on the head by the corner of a wall. Mithabai got on the parapet and flung herself down where refuse was thrown. Witness ran downstairs and found the deceased lying on the first floor. She retained consciousness but did not speak. Witness conveyed her in a guarry to the hospital. Mithabai was the second wife of the witness. His first wife Luxmibai was not there when the deceased fell. The deceased was somewhat out of her mind and had bitten witness on the calf of his leg a few days ago when she wanted a new saree and he did not give her. The deceased hurled certain allegations against witness's first wife and said that she had pushed her over the balcony. Witness's two wives used to quarrel sometimes.
The deceased's mother Hirabai gave evidence that when on the day in question she went to her daughter's room she found her daughter, Luxmibai, and their husband all quarrelling. Then witness went to her brother's room in the same building and after a few minutes started from there to go back home. She had not gone far when she heard an alarm. Witness went down and saw her daughter. Her husband had picked her up on the first floor. Witness never said that Luxmibai had pushed over the deceased, nor did she suggest to her daughter to accuse Luxmibai in her deposition before the Magistrate. Witness did not suspect any foul play.
The medical evidence showed that the death resulted from tetanus following the injuries.
Further enquiry was adjourned.

SALLE FRANCAISE.

CELEBRATION OF FRENCH NATIONAL FETE.

The members of the Salle Francaise met at Theborn House last Friday, to celebrate the great French National Fete which falls every year on the 14th July. Many members, including ladies, were present.
The proceedings began with a short and beautiful poem in French composed specially for the occasion one of the members, M. E. N. Shopkeeper. It was read before the audience by its author and was much appreciated.
Professor J. N. Fraser then addressed the meeting. He spoke on the present European War and remarked that the outlook was becoming very hopeful and that noteworthy events of importance might be expected within a month or two. He also announced that M. L. Peltier, the founder of the Salle, who had been away in France on active service, was expected to return to India in the month of October. This piece of news was greeted with applause. In conclusion, he, on behalf of all those who were present, thanked M. Levi for the keen interest he took in the welfare of the institution and for his untiring zeal in carrying on the good work of the Salle during the absence of M. Peltier.
M. Levi thanked Prof. Fraser for his kind words of appreciation and added that he was not a little indebted to the loyal co-operation of his indefatigable colleague Mlle. DaCunha for what little he had been able to do for the Salle.
A fine programme of music was arranged for the occasion, which was much enjoyed by the members who, after partaking of the light refreshment which was served, began to disperse after 8 p.m.

THE RAIN-QUAIL.

In July, if only for the sake of the change, we welcome the glad voice of the monsoon. It is not an unmixed joy, but in the change there is a temporary relief and one of the items of the change is the advent of the rain-quail. The black breasted or rain-quail, Coturnix coromandelica, is not a migratory bird after the manner of the common quail. It does not make immense long distance journeys over the dazzling white peaks of the Himalayas from Central Asia or over the sterile deserts of Persia, nor does it come to us in India from across the sea. It is a permanent resident in India, and is a migrant only in the sense that it migrates from one part of the country to another in accordance with the seasons. The birds do not come to us in the Punjab in the rains because they like the damp; they come to escape from excessive moisture; but they must have grass lands they shelter in grass, and grass-seeds are their principal article of diet; they avoid the Punjab in dry weather because the bare plains are then too destitute of grass. Their nests are invariably on the ground, and to hide and protect the nests grass is essential. They breed very largely in the Deccan, Central Provinces, and Central India, in the early hot weather, probably because they find these haunts to their taste; grass jungles, tracts of scrub-jungle and grass, where the grass may be two feet high or so. But they also breed elsewhere in India, wherever that form of cover may be found; and when the rains set in, and it becomes too moist in the wetter parts of the country they migrate to the drier regions—the Punjab, United Provinces, Rajputana, and even Sind. They are not often seen in the Punjab at other times of the year though possibly one or two may find their way in a bag of common quail when common quail are plentiful. But in the rains they appear, and when rain quail are in the market we may be sure that the monsoon has broken in earnest.—"Civil and Military Gazette."

THE LATE MR. BEJUNJI R. KOTWAL.

We regret to announce the death of Mr. B. R. Kotwal, late Chief Translator of the Bombay Court of Small Causes, at an advanced age of 76 years. Mr. Kotwal was born in Thana in 1841 and received his English and Marathi education there. He was first employed as a clerk in Thana Judge's Court on a salary of Rs. 6 only. He was subsequently employed in the Thana Post Office on Rs. 10 per month. Leaving this he opened a private English school; subsequently he got temporary employment in the Commissariat in Poona.
In 1860 Mr. Kotwal was employed as a Judge's clerk in the Bombay Small Causes Court on a salary of Rs. 60 and was thereafter appointed an Interpreter of the Court on Rs. 150. Leaving this, he became an articled clerk in the firm of Madan Shree Krishnaji, solicitors, and appeared twice in the High Court Pleader's Examination in 1870. Having not succeeded in this, he again joined the Small Causes Court of Bombay as an interpreter on a salary of Rs. 160 and was, after a few years, promoted to the post of the Chief Translator of the Court on Rs. 250, which appointment he held till he retired from service in 1901 on a monthly pension of Rs. 125, which he enjoyed for a period of sixteen years. While in the service of the Court the late Mr. Kotwal edited several law books in 1868. He published the Commentaries on the Law of Limitation of 1859 in English as well as in Gujarati, the Presidency Small Causes Acts, Questions and Answers to Examination of Subordinate Judges and High Court Pleaders etc. He also edited and conducted a law journal for about three years. He took a very leading part in appealing to the local Government, urging them not to send respectable insolvents to prison under certain circumstances and to amend the law allowing the judges and the registrar to use their discretion in such cases of respectable insolvents who were sent to jail. It was due to his persevering exertions that the law was amended, by virtue of which facilities were given to insolvents under certain circumstances by which they were exempted from the punishment of jail.

The late Mr. Kotwal acted for many years as an honorary secretary of the Bombay Native General Library and was also one of the members of the managing committee of Parsi Anjuman's Fire Temple and an honorary auditor. For a few years in his retired life, he worked as an auditor of the Bandra Municipality. He had a great love of poetry and composed a book of poems on the Beauties of Matheran, besides his private compositions in English. In his youth, he took great and leading interest in Freemasonry and was raised to the highest degree of a Freemason. Mr. Kotwal was, throughout his life well-known for his honesty and straightforwardness and was a most hardworking and zealous man.

BOMBAY GUN CLUB.

A well attended meeting of the above Club was held at Mahim on Sunday last. Proceedings opened with a 10 Bird Handicap Sweep at unknown traps and angles, A. E. Knowles with 6 kills and 2 handicap being the winner followed by R. Kennedy with 2 point less.
A Spoon shoot followed in which A. G. Macdonnel with 6 kills and 2 handicap and D. Moir with 8 kills tied for first place. Macdonnel carried off the Spoon on the shoot off.
The monthly shoot for the Scotch Bowl was the next event, the scoring being on the Scotch system. H. A. W. Brent with a total of 25 points including 3 handicap, obtained the holdership of the bowl, D. W. Johnstone with a total of 20 taking second place.
The Clay Bird Shooting Association Medal was then shot for and resulted in a tie between R. Kennedy, A. H. Kingston and J. Linford with a score of 7 each. Time did not permit of a shoot off and on a toss up Kennedy proved the victor, Kingston taking 2nd prize in the sweep.
Entries were then taken for the Stewart Cup in which H. A. W. Brent recorded his second victory after a tie with W. Fraser, D. W. Johnstone and J. Linford.

The death occurred suddenly at Allahabad of Mr. Aitchison, a member of the well known family of the same name and an old resident of the district.

NEW BHATIA HIGH SCHOOL.

OPENING CEREMONY BY LORD WILLINGDON.

The opening ceremony of the Mathuradas Karsandas Natha, Bhatia High School at Hornby Road, at the hands of his Excellency Lord Willingdon, took place yesterday evening in the presence of a large gathering of ladies and gentlemen assembled in the gaily decorated pavilion erected for the purpose. The proceedings began with a song of welcome sung by the boys of the school. Then Mr. Vallabhdas Karsandas Natha, the son of the donor of the school, read on behalf of the Managing Committee an address of welcome.
The Secretary next read his report, in which he said that the Bhatia Community had long felt the need of a school run on modern lines but specially suited to their requirements. This need had been fulfilled by the munificence of Shet Karsondas Natha, who had endowed six and a quarter lakhs of rupees to start the institution. In that institution religious instruction and commercial education would be specially provided for. They had up to now registered 390 boys. It was a source of great satisfaction to the Committee that they had been able to attract energetic young men to become teachers in the school. Provision had been made for some recreation, but they hoped that they would get a plot of land on the Esplanade maidan.

HIS EXCELLENCY'S SPEECH.

The Governor, after thanking them for having invited him to open the school, said that he had no idea when he had been invited to that function that he would see before him such a tremendous gathering as he did. He thanked them for the kind expressions about Lady Willingdon, who would have been delighted to be among them that evening. Occasions of late had been frequent when the Governor had been invited to show his interest in educational institutions started by the munificence of individual Indians. He gathered that though he was asked to open this school it had already been opened. It was meant that his blessings were asked for and he gave them gladly. However much, said his Excellency, the Government might struggle and try to satisfy the ever increasing educational demands, it was quite impossible to progress without the support of the people.
Continuing, Lord Willingdon observed that in these latter years the teacher's profession was not very high in the public estimation. He thought strongly that there was hardly a higher or nobler calling. He hoped that Shet Karsondas's example would be frequently followed. It was his hope that they, not only the Government and the Bhatia Community, but all communities alike, and India as a whole, would go on working together anxious to forward the best and truest interests of the country, uplifting and making more educated the younger generation, making of them a strong, healthy, forceful race who would lead India on and be assets to the Empire.
His Excellency then amid loud cheers declared the school open. The Principal was next presented with a gold ring set with precious stones.
A hearty vote of thanks to the Governor brought the proceedings to a close.

BELLASIS ROAD MATERNITY HOSPITAL.

TO THE EDITOR OF "THE CHRONICLE"

Sir,—May I through the medium of your esteemed journal bring to the notice of the Municipal authorities concerned that the deaths at the Maternity Hospital at Bellasis Road are on the increase during the last fortnight, and that during the last week as many as three fatal cases, have occurred in the Bene-Israel Community. On enquiry I learn that these cases were "septic" ones. It is difficult for laymen to to know what a septic case is and who is responsible in such instances.
I would therefore request, that, as the Hospital is taken advantage of not only by the Bene-Israel Community but also by the Christian and Hindu Communities, the authorities would look into the matter.—Yours, etc.,

INDIAN STUDENTS' FIRST GAME.

MR. C. F. TUFNELL'S XIV. INDIAN STUDENTS.

On June 15, on the Oval, in quite enjoyable weather, the Indian Students played the first of the matches which had been arranged on their behalf by the Students' Hospitality Committee, of which Sir F. A. Robertson is the head. Mr. C. F. Tufnell got together a fairly good team of veterans and military to oppose them at the Oval, the scratch side easily gaining the victory. Batting first, the Indian Students, who were short of practice, opened promisingly, but were all disposed of for 84. H. Gunasekari made some good strokes in compiling his couple of dozen, but Gilligan (6 for 28) and Newcombe (3 for 11), aided by three smart catches at the wicket by Tufnell, proved very effective with the ball. Sewell's wicket cost 13.
Stanley Colman and N. C. Tufnell made 43 for the first wicket of the scratch side, G. J. V. Weigall leaving five later. Following the tea interval Colman and Lt. Anson passed the rival score for the loss of two wickets only, adding 77 before, with 125 on the board, the Grenadier, who hit freely for 54, including a 6, a 5, and eight 4's, was bowled by Tata, who plays for Hampstead Montrose. With Wells as partner another prolonged stand was effected, 93 being obtained. H. Gunasekari then in turn dismissed Wells and Sewell, the former's 63 containing a 6 and ten 4's. Gilligan hit a 6 in his 14, and Stanley Colman, who is in his 55th year, had the satisfaction, after receiving two lives just previously, of completing his "century" off the final ball of the match. In his steady not-out innings were a 6, a 5, and eleven 4's. Score:

THE BOMBAY CHRONICLE.
Wednesday, July 19, 1916.

DISRAELI'S PREVISION.

Even more emphatic than his repudiation of the notion of a 'conquered' India was Disraeli's protest against the then prevalent belief that India could be governed by English regiments and by European agency alone. In the memorable speech in the House of Commons, to which we are making this passing reference, Disraeli laid down the basic principles of Indian governance,—principles that have endured. We quote Mr. Buckle's comment:

"Only a man of high imagination could, without ever visiting India, have grasped, so completely as Disraeli in this speech showed himself to have done, the native point of view; could have understood so clearly how Dalhousie's repeated annexations and well-intentioned reforms must have appeared to Hindus and Mohammedans, and by what means native opinion could best be conciliated and impressed."

The dangers to which Indian administration were drifting in 1857 found a close analogue in the Cawnpore mosque affair of 1913, in which for the sake of some trumpery road-scheme, the local Government was prepared to set all Mahommedan India aflame! If, as Mr. Buckle says, careful attention to Indian susceptibilities is a special mark of the Supreme Government, it is because Indian policy has largely followed the lines suggested by Disraeli. The Whigs and Liberals of 1857 had neither the qualities of statesmanship nor imagination to deal with the Indian situation.

Vernon Smith pooh-poohed Disraeli's suggestion that Indian Princes were in the conspiracy, and that the annexation of Oudh had something to do with the Mutiny. Disraeli had suggested a Royal Commission of enquiry into Indian grievances. Vernon Smith ridiculed the idea of a Commission which would necessarily have superseded the Governor-General! Considering that commissions of enquiry into Indian affairs formed a regular feature of the E. I. Company's administration, Vernon Smith's plea sounds hollow, as does Mr. Buckle's comment that "perhaps this was not Disraeli's happiest suggestion." Surely, it was not his wish that at the height of the Mutiny, a Commission should go forth, and supersede the Governor-General! Disraeli had in mind the eventual settlement,—the conditions upon which a permanent reconciliation could be effected. But mark the fatuity of the policy favoured by the Whigs. While they proposed to be shocked at the notion of superseding the Governor-General, they coolly superseded the E. I. Company and the Governor General to boot. Strongly as Disraeli had advocated the transfer of the Government of India to the Crown, he regarded Lord Palmerston's action in giving notice to the Company that they were going to be asked to quit, as unfair. He said that before the Company was dissolved, the final allocation of responsibility as regards policy and methods of administration, as between the Ministry and the Company, should be made. He was doubtless right in holding that to propose a change of this kind, however necessary and just in itself, while the Mutiny was still raging, was to suggest that the Company was responsible rather than the Ministry. Strong as his conviction on the matter was, he was prevented by the then parliamentary situation from moving a hostile vote in the House. To quote one of his favourite phrases, "there is no gambling like politics." The Whig Ministry which had triumphantly carried the motion abolishing the East India Company and followed it up by introducing the Government of India Bill was unexpectedly overthrown on another issue and the Conservatives came to power with Derby as Prime Minister, Disraeli as Chancellor of the Exchequer and Lord Ellenborough (formerly Governor-General of India) as President of the Board of Control. Of course, the Derby Ministry had the clear mandate of Parliament to deal with India. Disraeli threw himself into the work with characteristic zeal and enthusiasm; for, to quote Mr. Buckle, it was to him "a matter of sclid satisfaction to take a leading part in carrying out that transfer of authority from the Company to the Crown which, in advance both of his own party and of his Whig opponents, he had seen some years before to be necessary and desirable."

Disraeli introduced the Government Bill in March 1858. Its main provisions are well known and need not be more than briefly indicated. There was to be a Secretary of State for India assisted by a Council. Lord Palmerston had suggested a Council of eight nominated by the Crown. Disraeli suggested a Council of eighteen, half to be nominated from among men holding special Indian qualifications, the other nine being chosen by a method of popular election in England,—four by persons who had either seen service in India or possessed financial interests there; and the remaining five by the Parliamentary electors of London, Manchester, Liverpool, Glasgow and Belfast. Disraeli's object in providing for this fantastic arrangement was to give a democratic flavour to the India Council and secure its independence of Ministers. One might well imagine that had Disraeli had to introduce an India Bill to-day, and, if he felt the continuance of the India Council was necessary and desirable, he would have commissioned the leading cities in India to elect the representatives. But, anyhow, most persons looked askance at the fancy franchises proposed. Disraeli knew that to retain these franchises would be fatal to the Bill and to the Government,—the entire scheme was Lord Ellenborough's and not his own,—and he accordingly set himself to rally public opinion. The Bill was hung up and the Government resolved to proceed by way of resolution. The Government resolutions were necessarily general in terms but they provided that the India Council should be partly nominated and partly elected, and Disraeli again insisted on the importance of the elective principle. We must pass over the lively interlude of Ellenborough's implied censure of Canning's Oudh Proclamation and the former's resignation. Five months of somewhat desultory discussion of the India Bill had not tended to improve its provisions; and unfortunately, too, the exigencies of the Parliamentary situation compelled Disraeli to accept a modification of the original scheme of Government, which, barring the reforms introduced by Lord Morley, has substantially survived to this day. The abandonment of the elective principle in the constitution of the India Council was a source of disappointment to Disraeli, but Lord Stanley, who had succeeded Ellenborough at the India Board, would have nothing to do it. Although the elective principle was gone, Disraeli insisted right through in letters to Queen Victoria and to his colleagues upon the personal association of the Sovereign with Indian affairs. In a letter to Queen Victoria, dated July, 24, 1858, he wrote:

It (the India Bill) is, the Chancellor of the Exchequer really thinks, a wise and well-digested measure, ripe with the experience of the last five months of discussion; but it is only the ante-chamber of an imperial palace, and your Majesty would do well to deign to consider the steps which are now necessary to influence the opinions and affect the imaginations of the Indian populations. The name of your Majesty ought to be impressed upon their native life. Royal proclamations, courts of appeal, in their own land and other institutions, forms and ceremonies will tend to this great result.

Disraeli was at the time anxious that the royal proclamation announcing to the people of India the assumption of direct authority by the Crown, should be a document worthy of the Sovereign and of the occasion. Stanley had not the gifts of imagination to compose a document that would have satisfied Disraeli. Stanley, in the interval, had in a public speech spoken of Christianity as the "religion of Europe." Disraeli pointed out that it was "as important to touch the feelings and sympathy of the religious classes in England as to conciliate the natives of India; and I think both objects may be accomplished if the neutrality, on which all agree, is laid down in the right way and on the right basis." At the same time Disraeli wrote to Derby that even if Stanley did not like it, this policy of neutrality should be emphatically enunciated. Stanley was brief and caustic in his comment; and the Queen had to intervene, with the result we all know. It will thus be seen that Disraeli played a decisive part in the drawing up of the great Proclamation, which India regards as her charter of liberties,—political, social and religious.

MEDICAL AID FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN.

The discussion of the Corporation on Monday on the report of the Health Officer regarding medical inspection of school children and his proposal to give them free medical treatment is disappointing in view of the importance of the question involved. The welfare and proper development of children, it is needless to labour the point, is a matter of national concern, for on it depends everything that makes a nation great,—its efficiency for work, the character of its people and its ideals. But, it must be admitted, except for an isolated attempt here and there, no organized effort has been made in this country to see that the proper growth of the child is secured. The physical condition of the children in our schools should demand urgent and increased attention, for this reason, that it is coming to be realized that the true aim of education is to give the pupils more power of utilizing their natural abiljties. That this end should be effectively attained, it is essential that the precise nature, degree and causes of ill-health should be more widely known than at present, in order that means may be taken to cope with disease among school children. Thus it has been recognised in the West that it is necessary for the State or local authorities to conduct a systematic medical inspection of school children and publish the results of the inquiries. In 1907 the Education (Administrative Provisions) Act laid upon the local education authorities in England and Wales the duty of providing for the medical inspection of public elementary school children with a view to see that the children profit by their education to the greatest possible extent. The reports of school medical officers in England are important documents, not merely because they contain statistical information regarding heights and weights, but also because they throw a lurid light upon various aspects of physique of children such as eyesight, condition of teeth, nutrition and the like.

These considerations we hope will be borne in mind by the Schools Committee to which the proposal of the Health Officer has been referred. The discussion which took place at the meeting of the Corporation on Monday, however, shows that the merits of the proposal do not yet seem to have received the attention they deserve. But the matter is too urgent to be lightly brushed aside. The Corporation, it must be remembered, recognized in 1914 the importance of instituting an experiment by conducting medical inspection of children attending its primary schools. The results of this inquiry were published some months ago and revealed some appalling facts. The Secretary of the Schools Committee rightly remarked that the necessity of a regular medical inspection of school children at certain periods in their school career is now regarded as an inevitable corollary of compulsory and free education. The Health Officer in submitting his proposal observes that "it must be obvious that medical inspection by itself is insufficient, serving as it does, very little practical purpose unless followed by its natural corollary, medical treatment. Were this not so, it must be patent that a great deal of labour and expense is incurred in the accumulation of statistics, interesting and instructive enough in themselves perhaps, but useless if the matter ends there."

The importance of this statement cannot be over-emphasised. If medical inspection is essential,—a point which as Mr. Wacha said, cannot be denied by anyone,—there is no help but that it must necessarily be followed by medical treatment. The most important measure for securing an improvement in the health of school children,—which, as the result of recent inquiry amply shows, is alarmingly unsatisfactory,—is, of course, the proper equipment of the schools and their location in good houses,—a matter which is we believe engaging the most anxious attention of the Schools Committee. But apart from this, another measure that is no less essential is the making of arrangements for the adequate treatment of all children who are found suffering from disease and whose parents or guardians are too poor to afford the expenses of paid treatment. The Health Officer states that the Municipal Dispensaries may be expected to be able to cope with the work in the earliest stages, but he foreshadows the necessity of a well-equipped ear and throat and eye department as well as a dental room in connection with the proposed Hospital and Medical School. He also anticipates no difficulty in the establishment of school clinics. All these and other measures have been long adopted in most of the cities in the West and if our own city is to maintain its reputation as one of the most progressive in the Empire, it is high time that it should bestir itself to remove the reproach which the absence of any adequate provision for the medical treatment of its school children entails.

Notes of the Day.

"Accidentally Delayed"

We still await an explanation from the censorship regarding the "accidental delay" of the telegram containing the report of Mr. Asquith's statement on the Irish question, and the delay, accidental or otherwise, of the telegram of the next day, containing Lord Lansdowne's statement. These telegrams were despatched from London on the 10th and 11th instant, respectively, and were not delivered to the newspaper offices here until the 15th. Their delivery followed immediately after an enquiry in our columns as to what had become of them. We are quite prepared to accept the statement that this was an accident, but we want to know, and the public has a right to know, how the accident occured, and that steps have been taken to prevent its recurrence.

What the Censor Should Remember.

Public convenience and public rights are not to be trifled with and the censorship would do well to remember that while he is protected in any arbitrary action he may take in stopping or delaying telegrams in the interests he is employed to serve, he is not necessarily so protected when he is merely negligent. There is a good deal of suspicion,—provoked by constant and inexcusable delays of private telegrams,—that the Censor's department is a very kuchperwarneh sort of institution, possessing a minimum of regard for the public convenience. The occurrence of such accidents as that of the Irish telegram tends to heighten these suspicions. The public, as we have said, are helpless in the matter of telegrams legitimately delayed by the ordinary legal exercise of a censor's duty, but it is a different matter with accidents that could be and ought to be avoided, and which must be the result of gross negligence. We imagine that a party suffering actual and provable damage by that sort of delay would have a good case for obtaining redress in the courts.

More Trams.

The Corporation at its meeting on Monday decided to ask the Tramways Committee to report at an early date whether the number of cars run daily, by the Bombay Electric Supply and Tramways Company, is sufficient to cope with the exigencies of traffic. Those whose misfortune or fortune it is,—for, when all is said, the poor pedestrian should not be forgotten,—to use the trams daily and those who, like Mr. Mody, have daily observed the daily spectacle at every important centre of men, women and children waiting in rain and sun for a tram, which not unoften comes crowded to its utmost capacity, would naturally be surprised to see the City Fathers awaking from a long sleep, and finding themselves yet undecided upon a question which can have but one answer,—that the number of trams run is insufficient. Their surprise will be the keener in view of the fact that the figures of tramway traffic in Calcutta and Bombay quoted by Mr. Mody left no doubt as to this answer. He stated that: while the mileage of tram-lines in Bombay was 20¼ miles, it was 30¼ in Calcutta. The number of cars in Bombay was 167 as against 404 in Calcutta. The daily average of tramway passengers in Bombay was 1,20,800 as against 1,00,000 in Calcutta. The accommodation capacity of each of the cars in the two cities was about the same.

Nothing can more convincingly show the insufficiency of trams to meet the growing traffic. Calcutta, no doubt, has a greater mileage, but against this has to be set the fact that Bombay has proportionately a much larger number of passengers. It may or may not be the fact that the profits of the company,—and there is no doubt the company is earning profits,—may be due to the lighting branch. But it is enough that the company has made profits and having been granted the monopoly of tramway traffic must meet the needs of the public. But after all the question whether the company works profitably or not is irrelevant. It exists to provide tramway facilities with the minimum of unavoidable discomfort to the public. If it does not do so, it is incumbent on the Corporation to take steps to see that matters are mended. We trust that the Committee will not take an unconscionably long time in making its report.

Cinema and the Stage.

The value of the cinema as a handmaid to the stage is being increasingly recognised at the present, even in quarters which were once disposed to look askance at the "vulgar tricks," which it was thought this upstart art habitually indulged in to win its way into popularity. The cinema, however, has come to stay and there is every possibility of its services being found indespensable on every modern stage at no distant date. Really, there is no reason why a present-day stage-manager should fight shy of the cinema, if the latter can render him any service superior to that available from any other possible source. Why stick to painted screens for scenic effects when the cinema can transplant the most realistic scenery on the stage at perhaps even less expense? Moreover, the manipulation of the cinema scenes would be far simpler than the working of even the most up-to-date stage-machinery. We find so great an artist and actor as Sir Herbert Tree enthusiastically welcoming the cinema on the stage and utilizing its services to the full. In mail week Sir Herbert staged "Macbeth" in pictures, himself figuring as Macbeth, with Miss Constance Collier as Lady Macbeth. Though the whole performance was a moving picture show, like those usually screened, the difference in scenic equipment was most telling and is thus referred to by Sir Herbert Tree:

"We staged 'Macbeth,' as never 'Macbeth' was staged! Real battles at night, real castles on the mountain-side, real moat and drawbridge, and water beneath the drawbridge. The hugeness of it, the splendour of it! I have never known anything so marvellous as California,—the new California of the cinema."

German Want of Understanding.

"The Times", quotes an article from the "Hamburger Nachrichten" in which the Boers are described as a "Degenerate People", because they have been sympathetic about Lord Kitchener's death:

Sixteen years ago we Germans felt strong admiration and sympathy for the Boers in their heroic fight for independence against the British Empire, and we felt sympathy and indignation when they had in the end to accept defeat. And now we see what then seemed simply unthinkable,—the chosen representatives of the Boer people humbly expressing their sorrow at the death of Kitchener.

This is not surprising. It is only a fresh reminder that it passes the wit of (the German) man to understand what has happened in South Africa. For, to a German it is all "simply unthinkable." It is this lack of understanding, it is needless to say, which was one of the most potent causes of the war, inasmuch as it filled the German mind with a wholly false estimate of the strength and solidarity of the British Empire.

War Prices of Foodstuffs.

That the war has affected prices of commodities in every part of the civilized world goes without saying. The Board of Trade have appointed a Committee to examine the causes responsible for the rise in these prices in the United Kingdom and to suggest remedial measures. The general increase in the cost of foodstuffs in the United Kingdom has been 59 per cent, but some of this is undoubtedly due to conditions that can be controlled. However welcome the appointment of a Committee may be, it is well to realise how much people in England and other parts of the Empire have to be thankful for in comparison with our enemies. For, from the latest figures for the price of foodstuffs in the United Kingdom, in Berlin and in Vienna, it is obvious that while the United Kingdom has to face a rise of 59 per cent. all round, in Berlin the rise is 120 per cent. and in Vienna 121. Even the biggest increase in the United Kingdom,—159 per cent. on sugar,— is a trifle compared with the 228 per cent rise in beef in Berlin and the 268 in Vienna. Again it has to be remembered that while all shipping trade has practically ceased in enemy countries, not a little of the rise in the British Empire is due to high freights which, as it appears from an analysis of the returns of shipping companies, give far greater profits to the latter than are justifiable at this time even after all allowance is made for war charges.

THE WAR.

SUMMARY OF TELEGRAMS

FRESH BRITISH SUCCESSES.

GAP IN ENEMY'S LINE WIDENS.

RUSSIAN SUCCESS IN VOLHYNIA.

HOLIDAYS POSTPONED IN ENGLAND.

General Haig's communiqué of July 17th, reports further important successes. More gaps have been made in the German second line, and the strongly defended position of Water Farm has been captured. The whole village of Ovillers La Boiselle is now in British hands. Captured documents, from which General Haig quotes, show the extent of the enemy's casualties.

In addition to a big list of guns captured, General Haig mentions that the total of prisoners in British hands is now 189 officers and 10,779 men.

According to a Paris communiqué Sunday night was comparatively quiet at Verdun except for a lively fusillade on Hill 304. Detachments of French progressed west of Fleury and captured three machine-guns.

French captures on the Somme up to July 13th, include 235 officers, 11,976 men, eight-five guns, eighty-nine machine-guns and twenty-six minen-werfer.

The Russians have broken the enemy's resistance in Volhynia, and captured a large number of men and guns on the Lipa.

A German official statement makes the important admission that General Linsengen's forces, south-west of Lutsk, have withdrawn behind the river Lipa, indicating more acute Russian pressure towards Lemberg.

North-west of Kimpolung the Russian cavalry is advancing through the Kirlibasa Pass in the Carpathians in the direction of Maramarossziget.

There are indications that owing to the severity of the blockade Germany will resume extreme methods in submarine warfare.

The Deutschland's captain is hunting round for an American passenger to safeguard him on his voyage to Bremen. British sportsmen are offering to lay 50 to 1 up to £5,000 that he does not reach home.

The National Conference of Trade Unionists held in London has decided to postpone holidays until the end of war.

Casement's appeal has been dismissed.

GAP IN GERMAN SECOND LINE WIDENED.

FURTHER IMPORTANT BRITISH SUCCESSES.

FIGHTING IN VOLHYNIA.

BIG RUSSIAN CAPTURES.

317 OFFICERS, 12,637 MEN, THIRTY GUNS.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)
PETROGRAD, July 17.

An official statement says the Russians yesterday captured in Volhynia 317 officers, 12,637 men, and thirty guns, including seventeen heavy guns.

ENEMY'S RESISTANCE BROKEN,

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM)
PETROGRAD, July 17.

The communiqué shows that fighting has occurred in Volhynia, partly eastward of Svinjuchi, where the Russians broke the enemy's resistance, and partly on the lower Lypa, both on the south-western sector of the Luck salient.

It was on the Lypa that the bulk of prisoners and guns were captured, though here the enemy continues a desperate resistance.

IMPORTANT GERMAN ADMISSION.

ACUTE RUSSIAN PRESSURE TOWARDS LEMBERG.

(REUTERS' TELEGRAM.)
AMSTERDAM, July 17.

A German official statement makes the important admission that General Linsingen's forces south-west of Lutsk have withdrawn behind the river Lipa, which is a tributary of the Styr, north-west of Brody, on the Galician frontier. This indicates more acute Russian pressure towards Lemberg.

RUSSIAN ADVANCE THROUGH CARPATHIANS.

CAVALRY PASSING THROUGH KIRLIBASA PASS.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)
PETROGRAD, July 18.

North-west of Kimpolung the Russian cavalry is advancing through the Kirlibasa Pass in the Carpathians in the direction of Maramarossziget

HOME RULE AMENDING BILL.

TO COME UP BEFORE RECESS.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM)
LONDON, July 17.

FURTHER IMPORTANT SUCCESSES.

WHOLE OF OVILLERS LA BOISELLE OCCUPIED.

STRONG POSITION OF WATER FARM CAPTURED.

LARGE CAPTURES OF MEN AND MATERIAL.

(REUTER'S SPECIAL WAR SERVICE.)
LONDON, July 17.

Sir Douglas Haig in this afternoon's communiqué reports further important successes. He says:—

We stormed and captured the German second line on a front of fifteen hundred yards north-west of Bazentin-le-Petit and we still further widened the gap in the German second line east of Longueval by the capture of the strongly defended position of Water Farm.

There has been continuous hand-to-hand fighting on our left flank in Ovillers, La Boiselle, where we captured enemy strongholds together with 124 guardsmen, forming the remnant of the brave garrison.

The whole village of Ovillers La Boiselle is now in our hands.

THE ENEMY'S STRAITS.

DOCUMENTARY EVIDENCE.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM)
LONDON, July 17.

General Haig quotes from captured documents showing very heavy enemy casualties. These documents consist of appeals for reinforcements, mostly from company commanders, all Bavarian.

One says, "Owing to exhaustion the men cannot be counted upon in case of attack. The Company strength is one officer and twelve men."

Another says, "The Company has completely lost its fighting value owing to extremely heavy and intense artillery fire. Relief is urgently requested."

But the following is the most striking. It is from the second battalion to the third battalion of the 16th Bavarian Infantry. It says, "Battalion consists of three officers, two non-coms and nineteen men."

BRITISH CAPTURES.

BIG LIST OF GUNS.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)
LONDON, July 18.

Sir Douglas Haig in last night's communiqué said, incessant rain and heavy mists again interfered with operations and nothing important occurred to-day.

More prisoners have been captured in local actions and the total is now 189 officers and 10,779 men.

Captured guns include seventeen heavy and thirty-seven field-guns and many others which have not been counted. Heavy pieces include five eight-inch and three six-inch howitzers. Four six-inch and five other heavy guns. Also thirty trench mortars, sixty-six machine-guns and many thousands of rounds of gun ammunition.

The above figures are exclusive of many guns destroyed and abandoned by the enemy.

EXPLOIT IN TRONES WOOD

HOW WEST KENTS HELD THEIR GROUND.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.)
LONDON, July 18

Reuter's correspondent with British Headquarters telegraphs that the west Kents who held out in Trones Wood numbered a hundred under the command of a captain. They accounted for 150 of the enemy, including thirty-five prisoners, before they were relieved.

The correspondent of the "Echo de Paris" says when the West Kents were cut off they managed to creep to a small fort unnoticed by the Germans. Subsequently a German patrol approached. The West Kents allowed them to advance to within a few yards and then rushed out and bayonetted them.

Nothing further occurred till, the night when a German column en route for battle chose the fort for their headquarters. The West Kents attacked the Germans who were panic-stricken and fled leaving their arms.

Reinforcements arrived and encircled the West Kents who fought most desperately for twenty-four hours, repulsing a score of attempts to storm their position.

Finally the Germans demanded their surrender, but the West Kents replied that they would rather die.

The Germans were preparing for a massed assault when the British relieved the position.

PENETRATION OF SECOND LINE.

FURTHER DETAILS OF THE OPERATIONS.

SIMLA, July 18.

The following telegram has been received by the Viceroy from the Secretary of State, dated 15th July:—

Fuller information shows, since trench warfare was established on the western front that there has been no such extensive penetration into the the German second-line system as was accomplished by the British on the 14th. Taught by experience the British used the only means of assuring an advance under favourable conditions. They began the operations by a long and careful artillery preparation which was started on July 11th and lasted three days without stopping, playing havoc with the German organisations, which had been particularly strongly fortified on the disputed line.

ENEMY DRIVEN FROM WHOLE FRONT ATTACKED.

Then at daybreak of the 14th the British launched an assault after intensive bombardment. The enemy was driven from his trenches on the whole front attacked. Furious fighting continued the whole day. At the end the British were in possession of the enemy's second position from Bazentin-le-Petit to Longueval and the whole Trones Wood. Two determined counter-attacks were completely repulsed.

Later, after a fierce counter-attack the the Germans recaptured the village of Bazentin-le-Petit, but were at once driven out again and the whole village is in the hands of the British.

COSTLINESS OF GERMAN DEFENCE.

No doubt, the enemy are rapidly strengthening positions further on, but so long as the British artillery bombardment can be maintained, such work will be difficult and costly. The enemy will be fighting at much less advantages than in the first-line positions. They will pay for their defence with an increasingly heavy casualty list and will be compelled to gather to this sector an increasingly large proportion of their reserves.

Thus the two prime objects of the Anglo-French offensive will be fulfilled, namely, wasting of the German effectiveness and preventing Germans making rushes or stopping rushes elsewhere.

Before Verdun the artillery continues very active in the Souville sector.

CASEMENT'S APPEAL DISMISSED.

CASE MAY GO TO HOUSE OF LORDS.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM)
LONDON, July 18.

Casement's appeal has been dismissed.

LONDON, July 18.

The Casement case may go to the House of Lords.

The death has occurred from cholera at Partabnagar, Tehri State, of Mr. F. C. Chamier, I.C.S., who was on deputation to the Tehri State.

VERDUN COMPARATIVELY QUIET.

ATTACKS ELSEWHERE REPULSED.

FRENCH CAPTURES ON THE SOMME.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM)

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)
PARIS, July 17.

The communiqué says the night was comparatively quiet at Verdun except for a lively fusillade on Hill 304. Detachments of ours progressed west of Fleury and captured three machine-guns.

Two enemy attacks south-east of Nomeny, in Lorrains, were repulsed and prisoners taken.

An attempted coup de main by the enemy against a trench in the Russian sector in Champagne was repulsed with loss by a counter-attack.

ARTILLERY DUEL ROUND SOUVILLE

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM)
PARIS, July 18.

Last night's communiqué said, on the right of the Meuse the artillery duel continued in the region of Souville. We have taken two hundred prisoners in the Fleury sector. Comparative quiet prevailed on the rest of the front. The weather is atrocious.

FRENCH CAPTURES ON THE SOMME.

235 OFFICERS 11976 MEN EIGHTY-FIVE GUNS.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM)
LONDON, July 17.

INDIAN SOLDIERS' DAY.

To THE EDITOR OF "THE CHRONICLE"

Sir,—Will you kindly allow space to the following in your widely read paper?

The Belgian Children's Day was celebrated on the 10th of this month which was a great success. The Lord Mayor of London published an appeal to every part of the Empire for a special effort of the charitable public on "France's Day," July 14, the proceeds to be administered by the London Committee of the French Red Cross Society.

May I now propose to celebrate the Indian Soldiers' Day on the 24th of August 1916, that being the Cocoanut Holiday which is a religious day of all the creeds and castes in India. Therefore every Indian will be able to contribute according to his might towards the cause of helping his brothers who are fighting out the cause of liberty on the European soil, a land unfamiliar to them.

Besides that school boys will be able to collect funds on the sea-shore where a large number of persons, rich and poor, gather together to offer prayers to the Sea-God; and if they asked to contribute something for the Indian soldiers, I think, they will never refuse the demand. Thus a large amount will be collected which should be handed over to the Women's Branch of War Relief Fund. If it is not possible to form a committee to carry out this noble work, the work should be carried out by the Women's Branch of War Relief Fund itself.

May He give success to the Indian Soldiers' Day if the public wish to celebrate it.—Yours, etc.,

PRIVILEGES OF RAJGURUS.

(Before the Chief Justice and Justice Heaton.)

KHESHAV BALWANT RAJ-GURU AND OTHERS ..... Appellants & Plaintiffs.

RAO BAHADUR DHAKJI KASHINATHJI AND OTHERS ... Respondents & Defendants 5—9.

This was an appeal from the judgment of the Hon. Mr. Justice Macleod dismissing the plaintiffs' suit with costs.

The plaintiffs filed this suit as members of a joint-Hindu family against the first defendants, a Marwadi firm carrying on business as Shroffs, and defendants 2, 3 and 4 as representatives of one Mahadeo Chintaman Chine, praying that it might be declared that the plaintiffs were entitled to a certain immoveable property situated in Lohar Chawl as joint-family property. Further that it might be declared that the said Mahadeo Chintaman Chine had no interest in that property and that the mortgage-deed by which he purported to convey his right, title and interest to the first defendants conveyed no interest to them. The plaintiffs alleged that the members of their family had been from time immemorial Raj-gurus of the Bombay Pathare Prabhu community, and as such had been endowed with certain immoveable properties including certain property in Bombay, viz., the house in Lohar Street.

After these written statements had been filed, certain persons representing themselves as trustees under a trust-deed signed on behalf of the Pathare Parbhu community took out a summons asking to be made party-defendants to the suit, on the ground that as such trustees they were the real owners of the property in the suit. They traced their title through a writing of 15th December 1828, purporting to be a conveyance in favour of the Prabhu Association by one Keesow Kashinath. These trustees were made party-defendants by order of the Court.

His Lordship dismissed the plaintiffs' suit, holding that only the defendants 5 and 9, the trustees of the Prathare Parbhu Community were the owners of the property in the suit. Against this judgment the plaintiffs appealed.

Mr. Gadgil and Mr. Baptista appeared for the plaintiffs.

Mr. Setalvad and Mr. Strangman appeared for the respondents.

After hearing counsel for several days, their Lordships delivered their judgment, in the course of which after going thoroughly into the rights and privileges of the Raj-guru family, their Lordships observed as follows:—

NO RIGHT OF PERMANENT RESIDENCE.

The conclusion at which we have arrived is that the Raj-guru house was built by the community in order that they might have a building convenient both for showing hospitality to their honoured guest and for conducting the Holi ceremonial which was only discontinued in the year 1896: That there has been no declaration of trust establishing in the Raj-guru's family, or in any particular Raj-guru or Raj-gurus, and right of residence against the wish of the community or any right to receive any portion of the rents of the house. On the plaintiffs' side we have an instance of the tendency constantly observable in India to attempt to convert personal and gratuitous advantages rendered to honoured individuals into perpetual rights claimable by their descendants and on the defendants' side may be seen the decline of reverence for the memory of individuals who have received such honour in the past. The personal offerings known as Bidagi have long ceased to be collected and the Rs. 75 which until 1913, was received by the first plaintiff appears often to have been in the nature of a compassionate allowance never increased in spite of various supplicating petitions. The Raj-guru is not a priest, and he has no duties. It does not appear to us that he has any legal claim on the community or its properties.

"SABHA PUJA".

In a petition in November 1902 (Ex. 12) the plaintiff says that "during the last six years this Raj-guru has been receiving a diminishing amount of Bidagi from the community; similarly, the honour of the Raj-guru Puja in connection with the Sabha Puja on auspicious occasions is gradually diminishing. At present the Bidagi and the income from marriages and thread investitures having decreased, the Raj-guru has to suffer hardships with regard to food. He begs that the community will make some better provision for his family." The "Sabha Puja" is merely the marking of each guest at a wedding with Sandal-wood powder as a compliment performed by the wedded couple; if the Raj-guru were invited and present he would doubtless be the first to be so complimented (See "Poona Gazetteer" Part 1, p. 213).

The plaintiff admits he has performed no ceremonies, but says that in former years he used to come to Bombay in the marriage ceremony period. The right of permanent residence in the Raj-guru house does not seem to have ever been asserted till this plaintiff paid a long visit to Bombay in connection with litigation between him and Mahadeo Chintaman Chine over a property at Mahim. He was then allowed by the managers to live in the Raj-guru house and had been in occupation of the loft for five years then.

DECREE CONFIRMED.

It does not appear to us that any case is made out of an endowment for the performance of religious services. So long as there are members of the community who regard the Raj-guru with reverence he would doubtless be allowed accommodation in the house during the marriage season, but his claim to property in it has put him in an altogether untenable position. We therefore affirm the decree and dismiss the appeal with costs.

SUCCESSFUL APPLICATION FOR TRANSFER.

MAGISTRATE'S "UNFORTUNATE LANGUAGE."

(Before Justices Batchelor and Shah.)

BAI PARWATI v. THE KING-EMPEROR.

This was an application to transfer the case from the Court of Mr. S. F. A. Edroos, First Class Magistrate of Ahmedabad to the Court of any other Magistrate and for bail pending her trial.

The facts are briefly these:—

The applicant Parwati was a Ghanchi woman who was put up for trial before Mr. Edroos along with a boy named Sakra on a charge of receiving stolen property and disposing of stolen property. An application for bail was made on her behalf, which was opposed by the Police Prosecutor. The Magistrate before disposing of the application for bail recorded a statement of Sakra, in the course of which he stated that he had been tempted to commit the offence by the woman Parwati. The Magistrate refused the application for bail, remarking that she was a Ghanchi woman "of ordinary caste only" and there were grounds to believe that her husband was implicated in the theft, and if she were let loose she would tamper with evidence as she is a young and smart woman—does, indeed, look very cunning and clever, and will exercise great influence in tampering with the prosecution evidence." There were reasonable grounds for believing her guilty and therefore he (the Magistrate) refused the application for bail.

The petitioner thereupon applied to the District Judge for a transfer of her case on the grounds that the Magistrate's action in recording the confession at that stage was irregular and illegal, and that that fact coupled with the remarks made by him in refusing her application for bail showed that he had prejudged the case in a way adverse to her. The District Judge dismissed her application. The petitioner therefore applied to the High Court for a transfer of her case from the Court of the First Class City Magistrate to some other competent Court and for her release on bail pending her trial.

PREMATURE JUDGMENT FROM MERE LOOKS DEPRECATED.

Their Lordships in delivering the judgment observed that while they themselves entertained no doubt as to the strict impartiality of the Magistrate, Mr. Edroos, it appeared to their Lordships that he had unfortunately embarrassed himself by his somewhat unfortunate language as to the mere appearance of this woman. To use his own language it was likely that "she would attempt to tamper with the evidence as she is a young and smart woman and does indeed look very cunning and clever." Their Lordships trusted that as his experience lengthened, the Magistrate would learn to abstain from premature judgment as to the accused persons by reason of their looks. It could not be disguised that language such as that might reasonably induce in the woman an apprehension that she would be prejudiced in her trial before the Magistrate, and though their Lordships themselves were satisfied that that was not so, they thought that in the circumstances of the case it would be wise to order a transfer. They, therefore, directed that the case be transferred to such other competent Magistrate as the Magistrate of the District might appoint. The bail on which she had been ordered to be released previously was continued.

DISPUTE OVER LINSEED TRANSACTION

DECREE FOR DIFFERENCE IN PRICE.

THE NATIONAL FINANCING AND COMMISSION CORPORATION v. DHURMAPPA APPAJI SUBHEDAR.

(Before Justice Kemp.)

This was a suit filed by the plaintiffs, a firm of bankers and commission agents doing business in Bombay, against the defendant, a merchant carrying on business at Belgaum, to recover Rs. 10,163-1-6 from him due in respect of dealings in linseed

Mr. N. H. Moos and Mr. B. J. Desai, appeared for the plaintiffs, Mr. F. S. Talyarkhan and Mr. B. J. Wadia, appeared for the defendant.

Briefly, the alleged facts which gave rise to this suit are as follows:—The plaintiffs claimed to be bankers and commission agents at Bombay. They had a branch agency at Belgaum. They alleged that the defendant instructed their (plaintiffs') agent (Shamrao) at Belgaum to instruct the head office in Bombay to enter into a contract for the purchase of 15,000 cwts. of linseed deliverable during the Vaishakh Vaida at Rs. 9-3 per cwt.; as the defendant failed on demand to furnish sufficient margin, they sold off the goods on the 15th May, 1913 at 7-10-1. Consequently they claimed the loss they sustained at the foot of the account after giving him credit for the margin actually furnished.

DEFENDANT'S CONTENTIONS.

The defendant raised several contentions, among which three were important. The first one was that there was no privity between him and the plaintiffs, as the plaintiffs' contract for the purchase of linseed was with Shamrao (the plaintiffs' Belgaum agent) personally. The second contention was that the contract was repudiated by the plaintiffs by their letter of the 19th May, 1913. The third contention was that the transactions with the plaintiffs were wagering transactions.

CONTRACT NOT REPUDIATED BY PLAINTIFFS' LETTER.

His Lordship delivered judgment on Tuesday morning, in the course of which, after relating the facts, his Lordship said that it seemed to clear from these letters that Shamrao was an agent to secure orders and transmit them for acceptance and execution by the plaintiffs' head office here. If the plaintiffs had intended to contract with Shamrao personally and not with his customer, they would not have written as they did in their letter to Shamrao of the 27th November, 1912. The effect of all the letters, seemed to his Lordship to be that the transaction was posted by the plaintiffs as one of the Belgaum agency. The course of business of the plaintiffs between their head office in Bombay and their branch agency at Belgaum seemed to have been for the acceptance of orders from Belgaum customers for execution to lie in the first place with the head office here and when such orders were accepted by the head office for them to be executed here and then the transaction posted as a transaction with the Belgaum agency. So far, however, as the defendant was concerned, he was liable to the plaintiffs as his dealings were with them through their Belgaum agency and the plaintiffs could sue on contracts made by their agent. So it was clear that the defendant was dealing with the plaintiffs although his transaction was posted by plaintiffs' head office as with their Belgaum agency. But even if the contract could be regarded as having been made by the defendant with the Belgaum agency the plaintiffs could sue under sec. 226 of the Contract Act.

His Lordship further said that the defendant's contract was not repudiated by the plaintiffs' letter of 19th May, 1913. His Lordship also held that the transactions were not wagering transactions and passed a decree for the plaintiffs for Rs. 10,163-1-6, with interest at 6 per cent. from 15th May, 1913, till judgment. Costs and interest on the judgment at 6 per cent.

ALLEGED THEFT OF S. AND T. STORES.

A SECOND CASE.

TINS OF BEEF AND MUTTON IN A HOLD-ALL.

At the Esplanade Police Court, yesterday, before the Chief Presidency Magistrate, Inspector Shaw charged John William Wood, labour inspector, with theft, as a Government servant, of tins of compressed beef, mutton, etc., of the value of Rs. 17, the property of the Supply and Transport Corps. Superintendent Sullivan of the C. I. D. prosecuted, while Mr. M. S. Noronha defended the accused.

The case for the prosecution was that the services of the accused, who was an employee of the Port Trust, were temporarily lent to Government for work at the Alexandra Dock under the Supply and Transport Corps, and he was attached to No. 7 shed, where there was a quantity of stores. On the night of the 1st instant, Inspector C. N. Jeffries of the C. I. D. went to the house of one Mrs. Cateley in Frere Road where the accused was a boarder. On a statement made by Mrs. Cateley, Mr. Jeffries proceeded to the house of her mother Mrs. Simpson in Parel Road, where Mrs. Simpson produced from a tin trunk the tins of meat and other articles which had been wrapped up in a hold-all. It was further alleged by the prosecution that the accused had given the goods in question to Mrs. Cateley, and that the latter, on receiving a message from Sergeant Guest, an accused in another case, that the accused had been arrested, got her mother to take away the goods and keep them at her place. Both Mrs. Cateley and her mother stated the goods were packed up all the while and they did not know what they were.

THE DEFENCE STORY.

The defence was that in March last the accused had been sent to the hired transport Chilka in the stream to unload its cargo, and the storekeeper there gave him these articles which were wrapped up in a gunny bag and requested him to keep it for him ashore. The accused took the package home but the storekeeper did not turn up in the evening to take back the package. Consequently it remained in his room until the Police started making arrests in connection with the thefts in the docks. Knowing that everyone was suspected of theft the accused wrapped up the articles in a hold-all and requested Mrs. Cateley to give it to her mother to keep it for him. This was done. Neither Mrs. Cateley nor her mother knew the contents of the package and he himself had no idea whatever of the contents.

The accused pleaded not guilty to the charge of theft but admitted that he was guilty of retaining stolen property.

One Pereira corroborated the accused's statement that the store-keeper on board the Chilka had given a package to the accused to take ashore.

Mr. Noronha said the accused did not know the contents of the package. The accused should be acquitted but in case he was convicted, he (Mr. Noronha) hoped the Magistrate would take into consideration the fact that he (the accused) had been in custody for over twenty days.

Mr. Sullivan said there was nothing in the "Chilka" story. This sort of pilfering had been going on for a long time and in the case of a conviction he would ask the Magistrate to give an exemplary punishment to the accused.

The Magistrate reserved his decision.

The Magistrate then took up the hearing of the other dock cases.

THE THIRD CASE.

The Magistrate then took up the hearing of the third of the series of the dock thefts cases. In this case, Inspector Shaw charged J. G. Smith, Inspector R.I.M., and Thomas Albert Earle, sergeant R.I.M., with the theft, as servants, of goods, valued about Rs. 667, belonging to the Supply and Transport Department. Superintendent Sullivan of the C.I.D. conducted the prosecution, while Mr. Godinho, Mr. B. J. Dhondy and Mr. DeSouza defended Smith.

Lieut. Cove of the Indian Army Reserve of Officers, examined by Mr. Sullivan, said his services were lent to the Supply and Transport Corps. He identified the property as belonging to the Supply and Transport Department and said he saw them lying in the marine portion of No 11 shed, Alexandra Dock. It should not have been in the marine section, it being S. and T. property.

DISPOSING OF RUM.

Kinaird Henderson, examined by Mr. Sullivan, said that till the 26th June he was working as sub-Inspector in the marine stores, No. 11 shed, Alexandra Dock. Smith was his immediate superior. Close on two months ago Earle approached witness and asked him if he could dispose of some of the rum by selling it. He was to bring rum to the marine stores. He told witness he would give him 40 per cent. of the proceeds and keep 60 per cent. for himself. Witness told Smith about this. Smith was to get 20 per cent. out of witness' 40 per cent. A few days after, Smith showed witness about fifteen cases of rum hidden among the coir matting in the marine portion, saying Earle's coolies had brought them there. A few days after this, Earle asked witness if he had sold any rum and witness replied in the negative, adding he would try again to sell the goods.

DIVIDING THE PROCEEDS.

Subsequently witness sold two cases of rum for Rs. 15, out of which he gave Earle Rs. 10 and put the remaining Rs. 5 in his own pocket. He did not give any to Smith as he thought he (Smith) did not need it. Witness remembered the day when Smith was arrested. That day he saw Earle between 10 and 11 p.m. Earle came to him to the marine department and asked him if he could remove the balance of the cases of rum that was lying there among the coir matting. Earle wanted to remove the cases back to his own department. Witness told him it was too risky and would ask Mr. Pike. Earle then left, saying he would send coolies round about 2 a.m. to take away the rum. When Mr. Pike came, witness told him about the matter and Mr. Pike said nothing could be removed till the investigation was over. Mr. Pike then wrote to Earle to let the rum alone.

The further hearing was adjourned.

THE "SHANPAT" CASES.

ALL ACCUSED DISCHARGED.

The last of the series of cases instituted by Superintendent Morris in the Fourth Presidency Magistrate's Court was disposed of yesterday. In this case five persons (1) Ramchander Kashiram; (2) Badloo Mahadeo; (3) Virji Ramji; (4) Panalal Sitaram and (5) Babulal Nendram were charged with cheating Romaji Meghji by inducing him to deliver to the accused 60 sovereigns. Superintendent Morris, assisted by Inspectors Power and Guider, appeared to prosecute. The first and second accused were undefended. Mr. Solomon defended the third accused. Mr. Kanuga defended the fourth accused and Mr. Azad defended the last accused.

At the outset the case against accused No. 3 was withdrawn as it was stated that he was to be called as a witness. Messrs. Kanuga and Azad objected to this but their objection was over-ruled and the accused No. 3 discharged. The evidence for the prosecution was that one Rowji Meghji, a dealer in dry fruits, was informed by accused No. 1 that a man had come from up-country and had several currency notes with him which he wanted to dispose of. This man was willing to exchange the notes for 60 per cent. of their value but the payment could only be made in sovereigns. Meghji Rowji believing the accused No. 1 went with him to a place near Chinchbunder and carried 60 sovereigns with him to make the bargain. It was said that when the complainant reached this place accused No. 2 came on the scene and asked him if the sovereigns were with him. The complainant then produced the sovereigns and as they were counting them, a group of four or five men ran up to the spot wanting to arrest the complainant and the two accused. The complainant became frightened and ran away leaving the sovereigns with the accused. It was also said that the complainant was shown a bundle of papers cut to the size of currency notes and tied together. This bundle, however, contained only one ten-rupee note and the rest were all blank papers. This bundle the complainant carried away. The next morning the accused No. 1 and 2 went to the complainant's shop and took him with them and they subsequently met the other accused.

The discharged accused bore out the complainant's story.

The defence was that the complainant would never have gone with the accused No. 1 as he knew that he had given evidence against the complainant's uncle in a case in which the accused were convicted and sentenced to a year's imprisonment.

The Magistrate remarked that in view of that fact he could not frame a charge against the accused. So he ordered them to be

ILLICIT POSSESSION OF OPIUM.

ACCUSED SENT TO JUVENILE JAIL FOR ONE YEAR.

At the Esplanade Police Court, yesterday, before the Chief Presidency Magistrate, Chief Excise Inspector Sheriar J. Talyarkhan charged Hussein Gafur, a Mahomedan, aged 20 years, with possessing 56 tolas of opium without a license. It appeared from the evidence that the accused was arrested with the opium on his person on Monday night in Doctor Street. It was alleged that the opium was intended for sale to Chinamen. The Magistrate sentenced the accused to be sent to the Dharwar Juvenile Jail for one year.

Savage of the Cathedral High School on a charge of voluntarily causing hurt to her son, a pupil of the school, the parties as arranged met in the Third Presidency Magistrate's chamber at the Esplanade Police Court. After some discussion the parties left the Court, the matter having been settled.

BATHING FATALITY AT MADRAS.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

MADRAS, July 18.

The "Madras Times" reports a sad drowning fatality in the sea. It appears two students named B. A. Dquintal and Frost, with one Brother Martin went to bathe in the sea on Sunday. Martin, being a good swimmer, went ahead, but subsequently felt exhausted and somehow managed to swim ashore. Soon after he saw Frost shouting for help and again swam back and brought him ashore in an exhausted condition. Dquintal was in the meantime missed and his body was washed ashore yesterday.

Official and Personal.

We regret to announce the death of the only Kuversaheb of Maharaja K. S. Lakhdhirjee Saheb of Morvi on last Saturday afternoon at Hasmat Mahal, Chowpatty, Bombay.

Colonel Sir S. G. Barrad, K.C.S.I., Surveyer General of India, is expected to arrive in Bangalore on the 25th instant.

The "Madras Mail's" Cochin correspondent writes: The report circulated that there will be an exposition in December of St. Francis Xavier's body in Goa is too premature, as so far H. E. the Patriarch has received no intimation to this effect. It is not likely that any exposition will take place, since there are many circumstances arising from the war which will have to be considered before a decision could be come to. But so far nothing definitely has been decided.

MAHARAJAH'S HOPES.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

BANGALORE, July 18.

Speaking at the debate in the Mysore Legislative Council regarding the University Bill, the Maharajah spoke as follows:—

As this important measure, which would bring into existence an institution that will prove a great desideratum to the people of the State, has undergone an exhaustive examination at the hands of this Council and is about to be passed, I feel I should be expressing the feelings that are uppermost in the hearts of not only every member present in this chamber, but of every real thinking man in the State and also of many outside the State, when I say that we hope to-night to wish the University every success and prosperity, which may prove a lasting source of light and happiness to the people of our State.

BUDGET DEBATE.

The Council reassembled to-day, Sir Viswesaraya presiding, when the discussion of the Budget was commenced.

Various suggestions were made and some of the speakers pointed out that no provision was made in the budget for carrying out of the scheme for the separation of judicial and executive functions. One of the members stated that the principle of separation had already been accepted by the Government but was not put into effect for want of funds. Another member suggested the appointment of a commission to enquire into some questions connected with education in the State. He admitted that rapid progress has been made in the State in elementary, secondary and collegiate education, but said that in spite of efforts for improvements complaints were heard regarding the inadequacy of teachers and their salaries in elementary schools, discontent among the teaching staff in high schools, and want of accommodation in colleges.

PHTHISIS IN THE PUNJAB.

The Punjab having attempted to run the province on the medical side as well as on all other sides with an adequate staff, is now at the height of its prosperity deprived of almost all its expert doctors and surgeons owing to the war. It is, therefore, without much hope that the subject can receive proper attention, that we note the spread of phthisis in the Punjab, on which the Lieutenant-Governor has something to say in his review of the Sanitary Administration report for 1915. It has been alleged that the seeds of this disease were brought back from China after the Boxer campaign and it is easy to understand that it would flourish in new surroundings like all new diseases in a fresh environment. But if there is one popular belief about this disease it is the one that it cannot thrive in fresh air. On the other hand, it is reported to be gaining ground in small villages and hamlets. No doubt people in the Punjab shut themselves up and exclude the bitter cold air for two to three months in the year, but for three others the doors are wide open and for six everyone sleeps outside. Town-planning and improvement schemes may do much to prevent the spread of phthisis among the urban population, but the task of combatting it in the villages is also one that calls for expert knowledge.—"Civil and Military Gazette."

ORDERS UNDER DEFENCE OF INDIA ACT.

IMPORTANT JUDGMENT BY JUSTICE CHAUDHURI.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

CALCUTTA, July 18.

In a lengthy judgment at the High Court to-day in the case of K. N. Patel and four others, Justice Chaudhuri said:—

"This is an application under section 491 of the Criminal Procedure Code on behalf of five Suratis, who state that they had been working as traders in South Africa for some years and had lately invested all their savings in gold and sovereigns, as they considered it the most safe and convenient form of investment during the war, that they were coming from South Africa by s. s. Kathiawar, which arrived in Calcutta on 19th June, when they were arrested under orders of the Commissioner of Police with all belongings, including gold nuggets and 119 sovereigns, without a warrant being produced. They have been continually in custody since arrest. They applied for bail to the Senior Deputy Commissioner of Police on those occasions, but it was said they had been arrested under Section 54, Criminal Procedure Code, and Indian Ordinances, which were not specified, and a cable had been sent to South Africa to make enquiries regarding the petitioners and that no orders could be passed till an answer had been obtained. Failing to obtain bail, they made a representation to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal and were informed that as it was an ordinary criminal case Government would not interfere. They assert they have committed no criminal offence. They are now in Alipore Central Jail within the ordinary original jurisdiction of the court."

NO POWER TO CALL IN QUESTION ORDERS.

Continuing his Lordship said:—"The Ordinances in question came into existence in India in circumstances of emergency. Act I of 1915 has been enacted owing to the same emergency and is of a temporary character. Section 11 of Ordinance No. 3 of 1914 incorporated in that Act expressly provides that no order made under section 3 shall be called in question in any court. It expressly ousts the jurisdiction of courts of justice, that is to say when the requirements and provisions of the Act and Ordinances are fulfilled. The Orders we are dealing with mention that the Governor-in-Council is satisfied that in order to protect the State from acts prejudicial to its interests it is desirable to exercise powers under the said ordinances in respect of the petitioners and that they have accordingly been interned. Arguments have been addressed to me, with which I am unable to agree, that as the Orders do not recite the Act but only the Ordinances and do not say that it is desirable to protect the State from prosecution by the petitioners of some purpose prejudicial to its interests, the Orders are bad and inoperative. Sections of the Ordinances are referred to in the Orders as they are incorporated in the Act and the wording of the Orders seems to me substantially to comply with the requirements of section 2 (2) of Ordinance 5 of 1914. I hold the Act is not "ultra vires" and this court has no power to call in question orders which have passed thereunder. It is for the Governor-in-Council to be satisfied on the materials before him. The court cannot call for materials or examine them. The real effect of these Acts, to adopt the language of Phear, is that they create and make lawful a new cause of imprisonment and constitute the Governor-in-Council a Court endowed with the fullest discretion to adjudicate such cause.

APPLICATION DISMISSED.

The usual procedure in these applications is to issue a rule in the first instance and not to order the production of the petitioners. I departed from this practice as it was not mentioned in this case that their detention was under the said Ordinances and as it appeared from the affidavit filed on behalf of the petitioners that they had been detained for a considerable time without warrant, merely on suspicion that they had committed some unknown offence, which seemed to me "prima facie" illegal and high-handed. It is asserted that even now Government has no materials upon which they have purported to take action. But I have no power to enquire into that allegation, as the Orders comply with the requirements of the Act. I accordingly dismiss this application."

STANDARD BAROMETER READING.

The following information is published in order that vessels in the Bombay Harbour may by comparison with a standard instrument ascertain the errors of their barometers:—

The reading of the Standard Barometer in the Colaba Observatory corrected for index error and reduced to 32 deg. F. and to the level of the tide, at 8.45 a.m., Standard Time on the 18th July 1916 was 29.861 inches. For temperature corrections applicable to mercurial barometer of ships the reading of the ships' barometer has to be increased or decreased by .031 inch for every 5 degrees according as the temperature of the attached thermometer is respectively below or above 80 deg. F. In case of the aneroid no temperature correction is needed. But for comparison at 80 deg. F. all aneroid readings should be increased by .138 inch. For correcting the ship's barometer either mercurial or aneroid for the height of the barometer cistern above the tide level in the stream at 8-45 a.m. Standard Time, the ship's barometer reading should be increased by .010 inch for every 10 feet of the height to make it comparable with the observatory barometer reading given.

Dr. C. H. writes.—"I have prescribed Lactomaltine largely during the hot weather and it invariably agrees even when Cod Liver Oil and Malt disagree. I have found patients tolerate it quite well in the hottest weather that we have in this country, and I have never known it cause any undue relaxation of the bowels.

It is particularly valuable for Delicate Children, and Invalids like it. Indeed, I generally prescribe that it should be taken on bread and butter instead of Jam."

CAUTION In order to assure oneself against all frauds and imitation and obtain the Original & Genuine ROSKOPF watches which have obtained several Medals & Awards every purchaser must see that they bear the trade-mark as shown here, and must ALSO examine minutely that there is only one S in the name Roskopf and that there are no initials whatever either before or after the name Roskopf, nor are there any such words or indications as "& Co.," "& Cie.", or "System," within or around the trade-mark of the Genuine Roskopf watches.

Some of the unscrupulous imitators are trying to deceive the public by affixing on very inferior qualities of watches even concocted and illusory names like "Ruskope," "Roskope," "Roscope" and such others which have no existence at all, but still the substantial good qualities of the Genuine Roskopf watches are gaining so much appreciation all over different parts of the world that they raise the envy and jealousy of rival manufacturers, and it is against such artful deceptions that it has become necessary for the purchasers to protect themselves by very careful and minute examination of the Roskopf trade-mark as herein indicated and for which we are obliged to give this warning.

Sole Agents—ABRECHT & o.,
